

Q10 Infused Skincare

Q10 (Ubiquinol) is a natural coenzyme produced by our cells to disarm the effects of the environment on our skin. As we age, our body's natural production of Q10 weakens, making us vulnerable to free radicals like sun exposure, air pollution and smoking. Q10 is used by many leading skincare brands as a key anti-aging ingredient.

Applying this innovation to textiles, our Restore line is topically treated with micro-capsules of Q10. With each touch it is released onto the skin, rejuvenating and replenishing the body's natural defences. The effects of Restore last up to 25 washes, fight visible signs of aging and regenerate your body's natural anti-oxidant production – all while you sleep.
